

Beja Women, Sudan. Photo by Irge Satiroglu

After 17 years, Refugee Studies Centre is once again preparing to host a landmark

International Conference on Development-Induced Displacement and Resettlement:
Bridging research and Practice, Filling the Knowledge Gaps

22-23 March 2013

Refugee Studies Centre, University of Oxford

The organizing committee warmly invites papers on:

- Conceptual and ethical issues;
- Policy, practice and gaps;
- Short, medium and long term consequences;
- Experiences of urban, rural, indigenous and mobile populations;
- Transformation of livelihoods and living standards, social and family networks, gender and generational roles, power and relations;
- Mental and physical health impacts;
- “Success” in the context of resettlement.

For further information and inquires, please visit our web site at www.didrconference.org or e-mail us at info@didrconference.org.

